MRS. CROWL'S STATEMENT.

Gives the Other Side of the Pearl Bessley Affair.

THE JASPER NEWS.

Mr. Editor.—I see Miss Bessley's statement in the paper of a "Race for a girl." I will now give you a complete story of true facts. Pearl B. came to my house on the 17th day of June, begging me for work and shelter, telling me she could not remain at home in peace; that her father told things that were not true and that he had beat her badly. I then hired her for one month telling her that I couldn't hire her any longer that I did not need a girl. But I told her that I would give her a home and clothes as long as she wanted to stay. She was perfectly willing to stay on those terms. Her parents came here several times and made no objections. Now this is how the disturbance began. Her parents went to Kansas, leaving her here and forbidding her to speak to several parties or to leave the place, but they gave her the key to go home to feed the chickens while her parents were gone. On Sunday morning she went to Sunday school and there happened to meet a young man her mother disapproved of. Her mother found this out and they came to my house the morning of the 2nd of July, demanding her to go home. She refused because her father threatened to kill her. They quarrelled and raised a disturbance and Mr. Crowl then told them they must stop and leave for I could not stand it. They paid no heed to this but kept on till I sent away.

In regard to the note Miss Bessley mentions Mr. Crowl sending Mr. Cline, Pearl wrote the note herself requesting Mr. Crowl to see that he got it at once. After they had gone Mr. Crowl sent Walter Johnston with the note to Mr. Cline. Mr. Crowl did not go in the bedroom where Pearl was, telling her to come back. She came back between 11 and 12 o'clock and wanted to stay. Mr. Crowl told her she could not stay for it made me too nervous to think of her parents coming here and raising another racket. She then asked for money to go to Pittsburg, Kansas and wanted Mr. Crowl to take her to Jasper at the dead hour of midnight. He told her he could not leave me, but told her to go to Mr. Myers which she did. Mrs. Myers all vided her to stay, but wanted Mrs. Myers to come over here to stay with me while Mr. Crowl went to Mr. Cline's with her which he refused to do. Pearl then said she would go home with Mrs. Myers and remain the rest of the night, begging Mr. Crowl to come and take her to Lamar in the morning to see if her life against her parents.

Mr. Crowl told her he did not want to but he agreed to if some one would stay with me. Mrs. Myers' daughter stayed with me while Mr. Crowl was gone. He started in the morning and had not been gone over ten minutes when Mr. and Mrs. B. came along for Pearl. Mr. Johnston told them that Mr. Crowl and Pearl had just gone by. They then started in pursuit, and when Pearl saw them coming she urged Mr. Crowl to drive on, but they were overtaken. Mrs. B. snore at Mr. C. in a manner to make a man blush let alone a woman. Mr. C. did not prevent Pearl from getting out of the wagon. Mr. B. told his wife to hold the horses by the bits and he drew a knife on Mr. C. Pearl then jumped out of the wagon and Mr. C. then drove up his horses. He did not strike or hurt Mrs. B.

Now the next time a girl comes to my house with a pitiful story I will remember this and will know that when she says that her father and mother abuses her because she goes with the wrong, to keep such kind away from my house.

JENNIE M. CROWL.

TEMPERANCE COLUMN

Conducted by the W. C. T. U.

"Swing" wouldn't be up to date unless she took a week off. Glad so many missed the W. C. T. U.

At the meeting at the Baptist church Friday a unanimous vote was taken to congratulate Rev. Burnham on the complimentary notice of him in the Missouri State Leader. A good paper was read by our President and one by Mrs. Tillman. Space forbids a full account of subject: "Honors of the W. C. T. U." Honor means esteem paid with dignity, bravery. What can be more honorable than an organization that has dignity and bravery enough to fight against an evil that is dangerous as the liquor traffic? We have enlisted in a glorious and righteous cause—a cause that is full of honors. We are proud of our white ribbon because they are pledges of purity and temperance. It is an honor to belong to the Temperance Union of Jasper city. Here we have work to do.

Mrs. GEO. W. TULLMAN.

I firmly believe there is honor in being a member of the W. C. T. U. but not popularity. Honors in the W. C. T. U. are earned and that is the way Miss Willard and all our noted ladies came by them. They were not gifts. Miss Willard was always on the alert for the consecrated woman to fill a vacancy or a new department and she chose such as were best adapted to fill the places. She rarely accepted excuses. No one will say Miss Willard made a mistake when she persisted in having Mrs. Stevens elected vice president at large.

It may be honor to be president of the national W. C. T. U. but there are great responsibilities to be borne. Misrepresentations, false accusations and many injustices that she has to endure and her honor is greatest in her exercising of her grace of forbearance.

MISS ELLEN HACKFORD.

Election of officers will take place at the last meeting in August. Every member must be present. Meeting Friday at the Baptist church.

"Swing."

"The Archias Seed company have had a perfect rush of business for the past two or three days. It began Saturday after the rain of Friday. The company sold out all the turnip seed they had in a short time—more than they had ever before sold in any one season. They ordered more by wire and have part of a second shipment already in. They have sold a large amount of all the seeds which have been recommended for planting for fall sowing. The farmers are coming in with a rush at once, showing that the idea of planting for fall sowing has gained a wide foothold.

Much of Mr. Archias' trade is by shipment for a radius of over 100 miles. The shipping orders are just as rushing as the others. The rain appears to have been general." Press.

"William Bailey, living one mile west of Joplin, was in Carthage today and told a Press representative that last Thursday he planted a field of cow peas. "This morning," said Mr. Bailey, "I went out to the field and the peas were three inches high, having made that growth in three days. This is positively a fact, and I can prove it to any one coming to my farm." Press.
